

Dr. Eva SCHAFFRATH – MAASTRICHT (NL)

Specialists in Europe have developed a variety of solutions to deal with similar problems in effective ways in the care for our smallest patients. This was partly achieved by international exchange and convinced me that we will make our care better by combining our efforts and experiences in the small community of pediatric anesthesiology.

PROSA is for me the ideal platform to stimulate and bring about such an exchange of clinical challenges, experience in solving them, and to establish best practices.
